BIOGRAPHY

Four time award-winning actress, Kathleen Gati (Best Actress Award - Los Angeles Hungarian Film Festival) was born and raised in Canada by Hungarian immigrants and was brought up in an artistic environment. Her father was a symphony conductor and her mother an opera singer, so performing was in her blood. She started acting at the age of three, wrote, directed and starred in her first play at the age of eight. Studied ballet and acting till the age of eighteen, when she moved to New York to study and pursue her acting career. After performing in dozens of plays both on and Off Broadway, as well as working in numerous roles on television and in film, Kathleen traveled to Hungary to film Goldberg Variations, for which she won the Hungarian Best Supporting Actress Award.

She subsequently stayed on in Hungary for several years, during which time she starred in multiple films, television series and MOWs, winning additional awards along the way. Her performance in Hungary's biggest hit of the '90s, We Never Die (Sose Halunk Meg), made her an extremely popular actress in Eastern and Central Europe. She returned to the States and has worked continuously in New York, Los Angeles and Canada.

Features include Sunshine (Ralph Fiennes), The Future (Miranda July), Transformers: Dark Of The Moon, American Dream (Nick Stahl), Trade (Kevin Kline), Igby Goes Down (Susan Sarandon), ZigZag (John Leguizamo), The Future (Miranda July), The Space Between (Melissa Leo), Meet The Fockers, House Bunny, Little Birds (Juno Temple) and numerous others.

On television, Kathleen Gati is best known for her recurring roles on General Hospital as Dr. Lisa Obrecht, the evil German psychiatrist; two seasons on 24 as Anya Suvarov; on Alphas, series regular on both the Drugstore (Hungary) and in the animation series, Me Eloise with Tim Curry and Lynn Redgrave...plus many Guest roles on series: Fairly Legal, Leverage, Covert Affairs, The Mentalist, Desperate Housewives, Cold Case, The League, Lie To Me, ER, Las Vegas...to name a few.

She carries three passports, Canadian, American and EU/Hungarian and speaks Hungarian, Russian, Spanish and French (besides her first native language, English).

RUSSIAN WINTER - HarperAudio - 2010

“Kathleen Gati does a terrific job helping listeners follow Kalotay’s complex plot, which transitions between the past and the present and involves many characters, both Russian and American. Listeners will enjoy the vocal versatility that allows Gati to create authentic-sounding Russian voices and a diversity of believable characters, from the very young to the elderly. Gati’s narration of this captivating story will keep listeners engrossed as long-held secrets of family and friendship, love and betrayal are revealed.”

TOMORROW THERE WILL BE APRICOTS

“Narrator Kathleen Gati's soft, consistent Middle Eastern accent is the perfect choice for the elderly Victoria, who is an Iraqi immigrant.” -AudioFile 2013. (From the author): “Dear Kathleen, I cannot thank you enough for your beautiful reading of my novel. It means so much, and so much I didn't expect. You brought such poise and depth to Victoria. I never imagined her voice, but you nailed it, or created it. I don't know which. Either way, I thank you. What a huge huge thing you've done for me and for my work. Warmly, Jessica Soffer”

WOMEN, SEX, POWER, & PLEASURE

"Dear Ms. Gati, I am the author of Women, Sex, Power, & Pleasure which you narrated for Audible.com. I wanted to thank you for your work and express my appreciation for your reading. With Appreciation, Evelyn Resh"
